"FRAME UP" SAYS YOUTH ACCUSED IN CONFESSION OF MURDERING HOTEL CLERK

Barney Korn, 80 Days in Tombs, Declares He Knew It Was Coming.

HE KNEW VICTIM WFIL.

Man Caught in Hartford Tells of Slaying Man in Hotel Here.

Barney Korn, held for eighty days in the Tombs on a police court charge of being the murderer of "Big Charlie" Miller, night clerk of the Hotel Atlas in West Thirty-fourth Street, March 14 last, was told by The Evening World to-day of the confession of Joseph Murray or Boerret, in which Murray said that he was with Korn when the murder was done and saw Korn shoot Murray.

Korn is a slender, good looking young man, with easy manners and an excellent English education. Seeing him behind a counter or on a street car he is the last man one would pick out by his appearance as a murderer or as a criminal of any sort. He has a frank smile and during the interview his brown eyes never once shifted their open appeal for belief in his story. He insisted that Warden Hanley of the Tombs should be a witness to the interview. "I knew something like this was coming," he said in a tone slightly raised in anger. "I have known from the beginning that they were going to frame me up. I did not know where it would be done, or by whom or what shape it would take. But sooner or later I was to be framed. I was so sure of it that I offered to plead in a lesser degree than murder rather than have them frame me, an innocent man, and send me to the chair. Eighty days they have had me here and no indictment against me."

NOT SURE THAT HE KNOWS MAN WHO CONFESSED.

"Do you know this man Murray, who says he went with you to rob Miller and saw you kill him?" he was asked.

"That I cannot say until I see him," said Korn. "Those names suggest whether one of two men. But whether I know him or not he is a part of a frame-up."

"I'll tell you when I first made sure there was a frame-up. They had a

RYNDAM HELD UP TWICE.

British Authorities Detain Her on Outward and Inward Trip.

Officers of the steamer Ryndam, in port to-day from Rotterdam, report that the steamer was held up at Deal by the British authorities both on her outward and return trips. On her voyage to Rotterdam the ship was detained four days, and on July 24, while returning to New York, she was held eight hours. On neither occasion was a passenger removed, though a close inquiry was held.

The Ryndam brought 115 Belgian women and children, sufferers from the war, who were gathered for the purpose of establishing them in homes in this country.

DYNAMITE SCATTERS THINGS IN RIVER TOWN

Uproots Trolley Poles and Halts Traffic—Car Hurlled Into River and Windows Shattered.

MECHANICVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 5.—The explosion of a quantity of dynamite jarred this village this afternoon, seriously injuring three men and working freakish damage. A heavy coal car was tossed fifty feet into the Hudson River, a handcar shattered to pieces, factory and house windows broken and trolley traffic blocked.

The collision of a Delaware and Hudson car and a handcar containing trolley poles in the neighborhood were uprooted and trolley wires downed.

IMITATED CHAPLIN AND GOT A KNOCKOUT

Frans Unispata, a Finnish sailor, "made" from a voyage last night, saw Charlie Chaplin for the first time in the movies, and tried to imitate him in Battery Park this afternoon. His "imitation" turned out to be the real thing in a Chaplin stunt. He bumped into Angelina Taffe, eighteen, of No. 360 Greenwich Street, who knocked him down, called a policeman, and he was then taken before Magistrate Corrigan in the Central Street Court.

"Let me see how you did the imitation," ordered the Magistrate.

Frans obeyed. Then Miss Taffe showed how she had knocked down the emulator of Charlie Chaplin.

After that he was discharged.

BETHLEHEM SOARS PAST $300 MARK; NEW STEEL RECORD

Schwab Stock Advances 11 Points in Hour and Continues Toward 400.

WAR ISSUES GO UP.

Continental Can Makes New High Mark—Rails Are Heavy.

After a day of excited trading, during which steel issues, particularly Bethlehem and United States Steel, advanced to new high records, the stock market receded slightly before the close this afternoon, but closed strong and active.

The briskness of the trading is shown by the fact that 912,640 shares of stock changed hands, as compared with a trading yesterday of 671,040.

The greatest advances came in the early trading, but this rise vanished in the early afternoon, when the bears became decidedly aggressive. The advance, however, was resumed later on pool operations in leading railroad issues and a drive against the short interests in steel.

Bethlehem Steel, closing last night around 290, soared again to-day on a wild speculative movement, reaching a new high water mark of 307 and then receding to 301, at which it closed. United States Steel advanced as high as 321-1/2 and closed at 321-1/4, the highest figure it has reached in years.

Crucible Steel, which has been following the leaders, went to 79 and closed at 78 on a report that it had on its books $60,000,000 worth of war orders and that the warring Governments were prepared to repeat these orders immediately the company signed a willingness to accept them.

Railroads and industrials shared in the general advances, all closing up from 2 to 5 points.

Unrestrained speculation with little authentic information on which to base such a rise, has been the cause of the amazing advance in the Bethlehem shares. This is also true of the other war munitions stocks. There has been, of course, general information that Bethlehem Steel had received very large war orders, with large profits to come, but there has been a marked absence of official figures from the company itself. Nevertheless there seems to be an expectation of large dividends, and speculative fever has run high.

Similar reports of great profits to be derived from selling munitions of war have lifted many stocks from comparative obscurity to record popularity. Crucible Steel has advanced from 17 at the outbreak of the war to 79; New York Air Brake from 55 to 115; Westinghouse Electric, 62 to 112; American Locomotive, 19 to 54 1/2; American Can, 19 to 59 1/2.

One of the startling examples of a rise is to be found in the stock of Electric Boat on the curb. The stock of this company, which builds submarines, sold before the war at about a bit to 88-1/2. New York Air Brake climbed three points to 116. Allis-Chalmers was the only one of the war stocks to show weakness, losing two points.

The strength of the industrials yesterday brought in a large amount of buying orders and all the war stocks went up at least a point or two. Continental Can rose 7-1/4 points to 84, a new high record, and backed down a bit to 83-1/2. New York Air Brake climbed three points to 116. Allis-Chalmers was the only one of the war stocks to show weakness, losing two points.

WILSON'S MEXICAN PLAN PRESENTED TO PAN-AMERICANS

Delegates Meet Lansing and Hear in Part President's Ideas for Restoring Peace.

THEIR HELP INVITED.

Number of Proposals Ready to End Anarchy and Re-establish Government.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The six Pan-American diplomats invited by President Wilson to join the United States in formulating a plan for restoring peace to Mexico met Secretary Lansing in conference here to-day.

As the conference began it was indicated that the Latin-Americans entered it with open minds to hear President Wilson's plan, which they, in turn, will submit to their governments for consideration before further action is taken.

The first result is expected to be the groundwork of an understanding for an all-American project to re-establish constitutional government below the Rio Grande, preserve the sovereignty of Mexico and convince the world that the United States is acting as Mexico's nearest and most powerful friend and neighbor in saving the distracted country from itself.

Ambassadors Naon, Da Gama and Saurez, of Argentina, Brazil and Chile, respectively, who were mediators at the Niagara Conference last year, and Ministers Calderon, Mendez and de Pena, of Bolivia, Guatemala and Uruguay, respectively, selected because they are the ranking members of the Pan-American League corps, went to the State Department for the conference at 2:30 P. M.

The delegates were only partly advised of President Wilson's plan. The purpose of the conference was to invite their help in working one out. Their Governments already have signified their willingness to co-operate in the work, and after to-day's conference it is expected the other Pan-American countries, including Cuba, not represented in to-day's meeting, will be asked to join in the work.

So far as is known, the President's plan proposes, first, a cessation of warfare and establishment of provisional Government by the factional leaders themselves. Should that fail the American nations would assume the task.

A proposal to establish a Pan-American commission to take over Mexico, require disarmament, restore civil government and conduct elections has been brought forward. Another plan for policing Mexico with Pan-American forces also has been considered.

One of the chief propositions that will be made at the outset of the conference will be to send Gen. Hugh L. Scott, Chief of Staff of the United States Army, to Mexico as agent of this Government to end the guerrilla warfare and pacify the country. He will be clothed with far greater authority than any of the envoys and commissioners who have tried their hand at straightening out the Mexican tangle.

Herberto Barron, head of a delegation of Carranza supporters which arrived here to-day called on each of the six Latin American diplomats and informed them that Gen. Carranza under no circumstances would submit to the selection of a member of the Madero Cabinet as Provisional President of Mexico. The Villa faction contends Vasquez Tagle, the only member of the Madero Cabinet who did not resign, is in line of constitutional succession.

Prince Leopold and His Bavarian Troops Won the Final Victory, Driving the Enemy Out 36 Hours After Reaching the Outer Forts.

RUSSIANS HARD PRESSED ON THE NORTH AND SOUTH

BERLIN, via London, Aug. 5.—Warsaw has fallen, German troops have entered the city, it was officially announced this afternoon. The first German troops entered the city last night.

The Russian garrison fell back over the three Vistula bridges to Praga, Warsaw's eastern suburb, after only a brief resistance. Bavarian troops under Prince Leopold stormed the last line of Russian defenses and entered the city on the Kolish and Radom roads.

Whether the Kaiser entered the city with the Bavarian troops is not yet known in Berlin. The Emperor was reported to have planned to accompany the first German regiments into the Polish capital, but his exact whereabouts in the last forty-eight hours are a mystery. He was last officially reported at the Galician headquarters of the Austrian Archduke Frederick.

GERMANS PURSUE RETREATING SLAVS.

Continuing their retreat from Praga, the Russian centre is falling back along the railway leading to Novo Minsk and over the plain north of the railway, keeping in contact with its right wing near Novo Georgievsk. German troops are pursuing the retreating Slavs and have cut off and captured bodies of stragglers.

The Russians are expected to retreat steadily until they reach the line running through Siedlce, fifty miles east of Warsaw and sixty miles west of the fortress of Brest Litovsk. Siedlce, an important railway centre, is surrounded by swampy country that makes it difficult of approach by an attacking army and consequently an ideal base. Railways radiate from it to the districts held by the Russian Armies now fighting along the Narew and to the southeast against Mackensen.

The Russians are fighting desperately to save the Warsaw-Petrograd railway, imperilled by Gen. von Gallwitz's drive southward on Vyskoff. Official despatches to-day reported that in the section east of Rozan, in particular, the Germans have taken about 5,000 prisoners and numerous field guns.

Further to the north the Russians in the Courland district are being hotly pressed by Gen. von Buelow, who has taken more than 2,000 prisoners in the last forty-eight hours. The situation southeast of Warsaw, where the Austro-Germans are drawing close around Ivangorod, is but little changed.

VON MACKENSEN'S ARMY PASSES ON.

Between the Bug and the Vistula Mackensen continues to press northward toward Brest Litovsk. The Russians in this district are accelerating their retreat, according to to-day's official despatches.

All reports agree that the complete retirement from Warsaw was apparently ordered two days ago, and that the Russian armies on both sides of the Warsaw salient began falling back at the same time the Warsaw garrison began crossing the river to Praga.

It is believed that a large part of the Russian garrison that made the final stand at the city gates fell into the hands of the Bavarians. It was assumed that the Slavs either completely destroyed or at least attempted to destroy the Vistula bridges to impede the progress of the pursuing Germans.

The first bulletin from the War Office contained few details of the final battle at the gates of Warsaw, or of the greater engagement on the wings of the German armies seeking to envelop the Slavs. That the struggle was a short, fierce one is evidenced by the fact that Prince Leopold's armies arrived before the Warsaw outer forts only thirty-six hours ago.

General attacks were begun by the German right wing, extending along the Narew to Ostroleka, against the Russian positions before the River Bug. A great battle is raging in this section, the result of which is in doubt.

In the fighting east of the Bug German cavalry have driven back the
